FOREWORD

Every lamp must be lit and every star set to glow. The same is true with people—each of us must have a life lighter. Here at "T. C.," some of us have polished and lighted our lamps, and now they glow with profuse manifestations of outstanding achievements in various fields of endeavor. Some of us will strive to attain more than our radiant lamps, our destinations being the sun, the stars, and the moon. We know that in the future years a few of us might reach these goals; others of us will have to find consolation through the capture of a few clouds; and some of us will find satisfaction by merely polishing our lamps and letting them emanate their light in ultimate splendor. The pages in this, the Yearbook of 1953, will serve to bring back recollections of our start to attain our goals. We will always be profoundly grateful to "T. C." for providing us with the essential instructions and materials by which we were able to polish and light our lamps. May they send forth their glorious rays universally so that we may enlighten the hearts and minds of those whom we are destined to encounter.

DEDICATION

With great respect and admiration for his patience, resourcefulness, and guidance do we, the class of '53' dedicate this book to our worthy advisor, Mr. Alphonso R. Vick. May his attempts to find happiness always be successful, and his life a full, prosperous and happy one.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Greetings to the Friends, Alumni, and Students of the Winston-Salem Teachers College; and sincere congratulations to this year's Senior Class for this 1953 issue of the "Ram". It is a worthy successor to the talented productions that have preceded it.

The Winston-Salem Teachers College continues its responsibility of preparing its students for citizenship and service in this time of tension, fears, and anxieties—this period of transition. In this uncertain age, our task has grown considerably more difficult—training teachers in even wider academic and co-curricular activities than may be indicated within the covers of this book. Our task includes deep concern with the full exercise of democracy and with a renewed dedication to the basic principles of our founders.

The initiative, talent, and skill exhibited in the preparation and organization of this book is only one example of the maturity and attainment of our youth today. May they continue to be blessed with opportunity for service and the courage to meet their responsibilities.

Sincerely,

F. L. ATKINS, President

ADMINISTRATION – LIBRARY BUILDING

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Winston-Salem Teachers College was founded as the Slater Industrial Academy on September 28, 1892.

In 1895 the school was recognized by the State of North Carolina, and in 1897 it was chartered by the State as the Slater Industrial and State Normal School.

In 1925 the General Assembly of North Carolina recognized the school's leadership in this field; granted the school a new charter, extending its curricular to four years above high school; changed its name to Winston-Salem Teachers College. The College became the first Negro institution in the United States to grant degrees to teach in the elementary grades.

In recent years the State legislature has granted funds to the institution for the construction and renovation of buildings—namely, Bickert Hall, Atkins Hall, the Health Center, and the new gymnasium.

In 1892 approximately twenty-five students were enrolled at the school, and there was one teacher. Today, there are over seven hundred students enrolled at the College, and sixty-three members comprise the faculty and staff.

Yes! Time really marches on!

"DAS LEBTWOHL"

In September '49 we came,
To be enlightened or to remain the same,
We came in search of that called "EDUCATION",
But ignorant of the issues involved in this proclamation.

We came from the country, the town and the city
Possessed with various intellects—from wise to witty,
We came as "nonentities" to experience this new life,
To the beat of the drum and the tune of the fife.

We came to meet our amicable President,
Who was honest and fair and said just what he meant,
It was evident that he was possessed with a rare acumen,
Because he was interested in where we were going and not where we'd been

We came to meet our magnificent teaching staff,
Destined to give "RIGID" assignments and also a "LAFF."
We came to work, to study and to make the grade,
Knowing in the end that the achievements would be well paid.

We came to meet husband and wife,
To break hearts and cause much strife,
We came to be blithe and make lasting friends,
Not to be talkative fellows or gossiping young hens.

We came and learned to pay all bills on time,
From $104.00 to one thin dime,
We came and paid for books that were lost,
You see "ANGEL" and "PRECIOUS" paid at all cost.

We came to pass, to float and to flunk,
To "FIGHT" assignments or play games of "tonk,"
We came to walk dormitory halls all night,
Saying we were "HEAVY," knowing we were "LIGHT."

We came to excel in football, basketball, baseball and track.
To test our integrity and say, "NEVER TURN BACK."
We came to contribute to orchestra, choir and band,
Wanting to be a part of the best in the land.

We came to be made most worthy Greeks,
Knowing these transformations were not the peaks,
But the things we considered as a must—
To be truthful, kind, honest and just.

We came not only to be physically tough,
But to go to classes and "STRUT OUR STUFF,"
We came to learn the courses so that we could "TALK, TALK, TALK,"
And never ever be "DUBIOUS" and depend upon a balk.

We came to do things right, not "SHILLY SHALLY."
To attend to our own affairs and not to dilly dally,
We came and learned to be very smart,
For instance, knowing the daily menu by heart.

We came to go on picnics, and occasionally a hike,
To attend social parties, Greek dances, "AND THE LIKE,"
We came to learn how to mix these affairs,
To balance them with lessons and avoid the many snares.

Today, May 26, 1953, we go,
To disperse our knowledge and never take the answer NO,
We go as young and vivacious and daring scientists,
Now dedicated to the world as educational philanthropists.
WE CAME AND NOW WE GO.

President F. L. Atkins presents a gift to Magdalene Moore, who was selected by the college family as the "Lady of the Year."

Naomi Williams, president of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, receives a trophy for the pledge club of the Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority which had the highest scholastic average during the Fall Quarter, 1952-1953. The trophy is being presented by Patricia Holman, president of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. This is one of the annual projects of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

Coach Gaines and Captain Willis Johnson admire the beautiful trophy which the basketball team received when it won the CIAA tournament.

J. H. "Pete" Rawlings presents the first place trophy, given each year by the Guide Publishing Company to the champions of the CIAA tournament, to Willis Johnson, Captain of the winning team, as other members of the victorious Winston-Salem Teachers College "Rams" look on.

John F. Lewis, an instructor at Winston-Salem Teachers College, was elected to the Distinguished Service Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity and given its "Merit Key" at the organization's 38th anniversary meeting held in Richmond, Virginia.

Hazelene Wilson (right) took the top prize in the Carver Essay Contest sponsored by the Horton Branch Library.

EUGENE WALCOTT

HORACE HEIDT

Eugene Walcott, 19, sophomore at Winston-Salem Teachers College, was selected to play his violin on the Horace Heidt show, "The American Way," on Thursday, February 26, 1953. Walcott had previously won a first place prize of $50 on Saturday, February 21, 1953.

Horace Heidt called Walcott back-stage after the show and offered him the chance to appear on the nationwide network. Heidt referred to Walcott as "a great artist."

Winston-Salem Teachers College
Winston-Salem, North Carolina
May—1953

Dear Underclassmen,

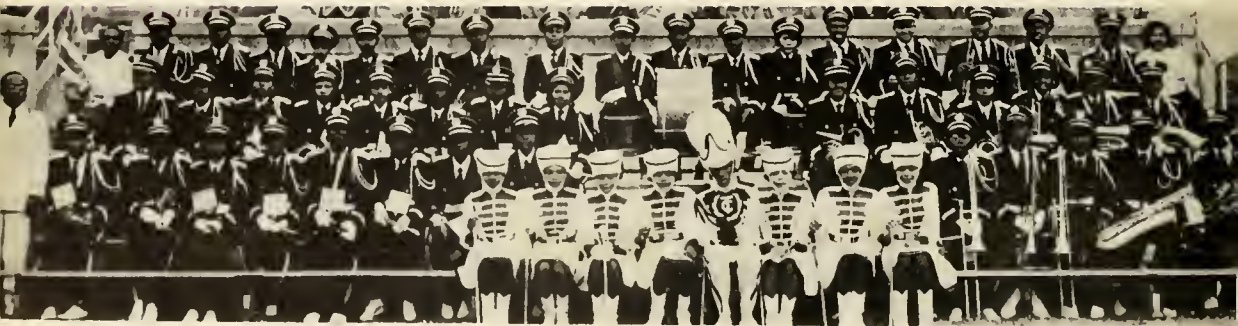

After you have completed three years of your college work, most of you will be qualified to do your practice teaching. Consider this period as the crowning point of your college career, and do your best to make it so.

Practice teaching is a challenge to all of us who want to finish "T.C." Remember this—nothing succeeds like success!!

Sincerely yours,

SPORTS

WINNER AND LOSER

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

The throng loves the winner whatever the test.

The crowd likes the man who has proved he is best,

But cheers for the victor would
seldom be heard

Were it not for the boys who run second and third.

And even the lad who ends up in last place

Has done all he could just to make it a race.

The marks that are set all the record books show.

To those that have made them
the plaudits will go.

But the record established might not have occurred

Were it not for the ones who ran second and third.

Were it not for the courage and
dash they displayed

The victor's achievement might not have been made.

So here's to the fellows not destined to win

Who still give their best to the contests they're in.

Important their roles (though not ones they'd choose),

For there could be no winner
without those who lose.

They give to the victor his
moment of fame,

They bring out his best and they make it a game.
